have been far greater. The June estimated that more than 5,000, summarized as follows: 000 soldlers of the countries at war with Germany and her allies have been killed, wounded or captured. Hallnire Belloc, the English military writer, said Germany's potential manbood for actual fighting probably had and asserted a conservative estimate 4,000,000 than 3,000,000 men permanently out of the field. Estimates of the total casualties run from 6,000,000 probably conservative.

Kronprinz Wilhelm and Mr. Michaelis puts the figures at 15 deadliest fighting of the war. Other estimates run still higher, to 20 billion dollars or

In addition to the money expended directly on the war, the lose in destruction of property on land and sea has run high into the millions. Great losses are being occasioned by the cessation of curtailment of many torms of productive industry. The energies of the world have been largely diverted to making war. Factories of all sorts have been turned over to the making of war munitions, men taken from mill and field, to be replaced by women, old men and children. Economists assert that for generations to come the world will feel the effect of the huge losses, in the burden of taxation and otherwise, and sociologists make conflicting predictions as to its moral, physical and psychological effect on generations living and to come.

Neutrals Also Affected Neutrals as well as belligerents have been affected. The financial stringency which followed the outbresk of the war was world-wide. The United States, in common with other neutrals, has been threatened with the abridgement of its rights, particularly at sea, and has sent notes of remonstrance to England and Germany, the complications with the latter country involving the sinking of the Lusirania giving especial concern. The war has been attended with many unexpected features, one of which is its protraction. It has be
